Not illustrated. 1788 Excerpt: .refined by Liqueurs to be freed from the Grievance of their English Constitutions. It was once seriously discussed by the French Academy, whether it was possible for a German to be a Wit. It would be more worthy of the Sagacity of the fame learned Body to determine, whether.it be possible for an Englishman not to be a Politician. To form a right Decision, let theni converse with what Order of Men they please, and they will find, that the ruling Passion is the Regulation of the political Machine., The Ferocity which is natural to Islanders, may be tje Reason of our being more disposed to command than to obey. Hence it is no uncommon Case for a Man so far to mistake his Abilities, as to talk of riding the State Horse, when he is hardly expert enough to shoe him. All Persons of all Ranks harangue.as if the Secrets of the State would be best entrusted to their Discretion, as if their own Address qualified them for the most critical Situations, and the Judgment of their Rulers should be suspended until superior Sagacity pointed out the right Path. Whilst the Barber snaps his Fingers among his Customers, he talks of managing the Mounseers, and laying on Taxes without Oppression. The Aldermen, at a Corporation Dinner, do the fame over their Turbot and Venison. To compleat the Climax, these are the identical Points which perplex the Understandings of the King and his Councillors in the...
